

Disclosure of ACNC protected information

This information can only be accessed and used for the purpose for which it was originally released. The access or use of the information/document for any other purpose may be a breach of section 150-60 of the ACNC Act.

The ACNC has released the following information/document under section 150-40 of the ACNC Act, which allows release of protected information to other government agencies on certain conditions.

150-40 Exception—disclosure to an Australian government agency

An ACNC officer may disclose protected ACNC information if:

- a) the disclosure is to an Australian government agency; and
- b) the ACNC officer is satisfied that the information will enable or assist the Australian government agency to perform or exercise any of the functions or powers of the agency; and
- c) the disclosure is for the purpose of enabling or assisting the Australian government agency to perform or exercise any of the functions or powers of the agency; and
- d) the disclosure is reasonably necessary to promote the objects of this Act.

An ACNC officer has determined the release of this information/document meets the legislative criteria for disclosure.

The ACNC has released this information to the NDIA and NDIS Commission to enable them to perform or exercise any of their functions or powers under the following legislation:

- National Disability Insurance Scheme Act 2013

If the information/document is required for another purpose, please contact the ACNC for a decision on whether it can be disclosed for that purpose, pursuant to section 150-40 of the ACNC Act.

Released under FOI Act 1982
Australian Charities and Not-for-profits Commission

The ACNC has disclosed this document containing ACNC 'protected information' under s150(4) of the ACNC Act. On-disclosure or use for a different purpose may be an offence under subdivision 150-D